I have known much of the use of Swift's Specific and have seen many of the worst cases of Blood Taint and Blood Poison cured with it, after having tried all other sorts of treatment; in fact, I have never known it to fail when taken properly. I can rite the case of a young man who had been treated by the best physicians for Blood Poison, but all to no purpose; and as the time for his marriage was approaching, he was nearly distracted. He finally took Swift's Specific, and was cured as sound as a new dollar.

Another who had tried everything, and spent four months at the Hot Springs without benefit, was at last cured by this remedy. His case was like raising one from the dead. I could go on and tell you of a hundred cases,

THE PERILS OF THE TRIP,

CONDITION OF THE RESCUED.

The Greely party are very much improved since their rescue, but were critical in the extreme when found, and for several days after. Forty when found, and for several days after. Forlyeight hours delay in reaching them would have been fatal to all now living. The season north is late and the closest for years. Smith's sound was not open when I left Cape Sabine. The winter about Melville bay was the most severe for twenty years. This great result is entirely due to the unwearied energy of yourself and the secretary of war in fitting out this expedition for the work it has had the honor to accomplish.

W. S. SCHLEY, Commander.

The news of the rescue of Lieutenant Greely and several of his party has created much ex citement in the city. The telegram from Commander Schley was received by Rear Admira ols, acting secretary of the navy, who in mediately communicated its contents to Lieutenant General Sheridan, acting secretary of war. They proceeded to the white house, and showed the telegram to the president, who has taken deep interest in the expedition, and expressed great concern at the sad death of so many of the party. A copy of the telegram was telegraphed to Secretary Chandler at West Point, and to Secretary Lincoln at New York. The families of Lieutenant Greely, Lieutenant Commander Schley, and Lieutenant Emory, were also informed of the rescue. Rhar Admiral Nichols to-day telegraphed to Commander Schley at St. John's as follows: mediately communicated its contents to Lie Learning by souting-parties of the "Proteus" disaster, and that no provisions had been left for us from Cape Isabella to Sabine, we moved and established winter quarters at Camp Clay, half way between Sabine and Cocked Hat. An inventory showed that by a daily ration of four and one-third ounces of meat, seven of bread and dog biscuits four ounces, the miscellaneous party would have ten days full rations left for crossing Smith's sound to Littleton island March first. Unfortunatily, Smith's sound remained open the entire winter, rendering the crossing impracticable. Game failed despite daily hunting from early February. Before the stammer returned. During the trip Elison roze solid, both hands and feet, and lost them all, surviving, however, throughout the terrible winter and spring until July 8.

THE RELIEF PARTY

The survivors owe their lives to the indomitable energy of Captain Schley and Lieutenaut Emory, who preceded by three and accompanied by five whalers, forced their vessels from Upernavik through Melville bay into the north water at Cape York. With the foremost whaler they gained a yard whenever possible, and always held it. Smith's sound was passed and the party was rescued during one of the most violent gales ever known. The boats worked only at iminent risks, swamping four of us, then unable to walk, and could not have survived exceeding twenty-four hours. Every care and attention was given us; saved and brought back copies of the meterological dial, the astronomical magnetic pendulum and other observations; also the pendulum of the content of saved and brought back copies of the meterological dial, the astronomical magnetic pendulum and other observations; also the pendulum of Yale and standard thermometers, forty-eight philosophical negatives, collections of plants and photographic proofs. GOVERNMENT IS BLUNDERER, WASHINGTON, July 17 .- George Kennon, of this city, who has taken an active interest in the recent attempts to relieve Lieutenant Greely's party, and who went before the Arctic relief board last spring to urge the offering of such reward as would secure the co-oper tion of whalers in the search, was asked by a Associated Press reporter to-night what he thought of the news received from St. Johns.

"It is a story of remarkable and heroic achievement in the field, clouded by the disaster due to incompetence in Washington. If aster due to incompetence in Washington. If Greely and his party had all returned in safety to the United States, as they might have done had they been properly supported, their Arctic record, in point of skilful management and success, would have been unparalleled. The German vote in Illinois and Wiscousin may be changed this year from republican to democratic. I have no day, the Earl of Wemyss moved that the in Illinois and Wisconsin may be changed this year from republican to democratic. I have no doubt that Connecticut and New Jersey will give their electoral votes to Cleveland. New York, the 'pivotal state,' will undoubtedly be the battle-ground of the campaign. You in the east can speak more hopefully of what you expect New York to do. I have no doubt we shall have a campaign of surprises. The defection of the Irish, for any cause, may be counterbalanced by the German vote, which is so naturally opposed to prohibitory legislation. Above all, Mr. Cleveland represents principles and a policy that do not require an apology. The grand character of Mr. Hendricks adds strength to the tieket, and seems to make Indiana certainly democratic. As seems to make Indiana certainly democratic. As I said before, if the democrats cannot win with this ticket there are no two names that could be combined with which a victory could be achieved."

The Foolish Talk Against Cleveland.

From the Boston Heraid, ind. Of course the talk about Governor Cleveland being a monopolist is meant to deceive the people. It was started in the interest of the anti-monopoly candidate for president and his friend, John Kelly, candidate for president and his friend, John Kelly, Governor Cleveland has no sympathy with monopolies or monopolies. He is much less inclined to favor monopolies, for instance, than the rich manufacturer of protected articles who finds the most fault with him. Governor Cleveland is an honest man, who has worked his way to success by honorable means, but he has not succeeded in becoming a millionaire while pretending to be the special friend of labor.

Governor Cleveland is as thoroughly qualified as any man in either party to make an efficient and safe chief magistrate. His election is in the line of the true civil service reform—the promotion of a competent and faithful official.

It is reported that the Panama canal is in a bad way. Probably less than one-fourth of the excavation has been accomplished up to this time, and the waste of money has been fearful. The magnitude of the enterprise and the extravagance of the officials disheartened the secretary, and he has resigned in disgust. The canal project up to this time has been sustained by the prestige of Ferdinand de Lesseps, but when the stockholders see how their money has been squandered it will be difficult to revive their faith in the enterprise to such an extent as to induce them to subscribe the additional millions necessary to its completion. Still, it is almost certain that a canal will be cut across the isthmus even in the event of the failure of de Lesseps. A water highway between the two oceans is now regarded as a necessity, and the world will not rest until it is secured.

vs. Andrew T. Finney.

On last Wednesday afternoon at about four cick there was noticed a goodly number of toggies, each containing a lady and gentleman, going in the direction of the Grooms's bridge. None could explain the meaning matile hack filled to overflowing, with gallant youth and happy maidenhood, hove in sight. The conclusion was inevitable—an excursion. A correct conclusion. These happy young people were going to witness the "robbing of a bee tree." Several days previous, Wilson, a tenant on Dr. Hopkins's place, had notified Judge Hopkins that he had found a "bee-tree" which he thought was "rich" in honey. The judge immediately organized a party to go On last Wednesday afternoon at about tour which he thought was "rich" in honey. The judge immediately organized a party to go and see the tree robbed. They arrived at the nearest place to the tree accessible by horse and buggy, about sundown. After all was ready to continue the march against the citadel of queen bee, it was found, on the inquiry of some enthusiast, that there was yet about a quarter of a mile to traverse, and that too, through a dense wood, and with two branches to cross. This, however, was successfully done under the efficient leadership of Wilson. Arriving at the tree, the first thing to be done Arriving at the tree, the first thing to be do Arriving at the tree, the first thing to be done was an election, by the young ladies, of a young gentleman to stop, with a handful of moss, the hole 'used by the bees for going in and out of their castle. Mr. Jim Reid was chosen for that duty—and eagerly did he watch for the falling of the tree, and valiantly did he march upon the bees, succeeding in his effort so well, that the fight was ended and effort so well, that the fight was ended and mothing left to be done but to rob the tree—after eating as much as was prudent, and having a good time generally, the party took up their journey homeward, reaching town about 10 o'clock. Not altogether satisfied with a repast on honey, they stopped in at Gunby's for ice cream and cake. This satisfied them and they heads there here their houses and "The cholera thrives where filth the proper sanitary precautions are taken beforetime in Atlanta, she need never fear a visitation of the cholera. Whether the city is in a condition to resist an attack of the disease now, I am not prepared to say, but the city authorities should be vigilant in this matter. There are other diseases as much to be dreaded as cholera, and to which we may be subjected any summer, if the town is permitted to become filthy."

Out of the Jaws of Death

Early in November, 1881, while sewing on the nachine, my wife was taken with a severe pain in her side, which was soon followed by hemorrhages from her lungs and a severe cough. Fever commenced: she could neither eat or sleep, and in a few weeks she was reduced to a living skeleton. The attending physician told me that he thought of which we have not complete have one of her lungs was entirely gone. She could not retain the most delicate nourishment on her stomach. Augusta, Me., July 18 .- Mr. Blaine's letter of acceptance has been given to the public. 1 is dated Augusta, Maine, July 15th, and is adessed to Hon. John B. Henderson and othe of the committee, etc. Mr. Blaine in acce the nomination, says:

THE TARIFF QUESTION.

Revenue laws are in their very nature subjecfrequent revision in order that they may be adaged to changes and medifications of trade. The ican party is not contending for the perm ency of any particular statute. The issue between the two parties does not have reference to a spe ficiaw. It is far broader and far deeper. It is fie law. It is far broader and far deeper.

Voives a principle of wide application and to cent influence, against a theory which wileve to be unsound in conception and inconception in the policy of the twenty three years, or which may hereafte come necessary, he republican party has tained and will notation the policy of proton to American industry, while our opponents upon a revision, which practically destroy upon a revision, which practically destroy upon a revision, which practically destroy mine the fate of protection for a generate the fate of protection for a generate of the permanent reduction in the wages of the can laborer, besides involving the loss of amounts of American capital invested. In facturing enterprises. The value of the prevenue system to the people of the United is not a matter of theory, and I shall subargument to sustain it. I only invite atten certain facts of official record which seem stitue a demonstration.

In the census of 1850 an effort was made, certain facts of one an receive stitue a demonstration.

In the census of 1850 an effort was made, first time in our history, to obtain a valum all the property in the United States, tempt was in large degree unsuccessful, from lack of time, partly from prejudices many who thought the inquiries foreshad new scheme of taxation, the returns were plete and unsatisfactory. Little more we than to consolidate the local valuation the state for purposes of assessment, and Hons of doilars ($30,000,000,000) had added during these twenty yea the permanent wealth of the nation.

These results are regarded by the older n of the world as phenomenal. That our ce should surmount the peril and the cost of a tic war and for an entire peril of twenty make an average gain to its wealth of oue suspasses the experience of all other n ancient or modern. Even the opponents present revenue system do not pretend that whole history of civilization any parallel found to the material progress of the States, since the accession of the republican to power.

The period between 1860 and to-day it been one of material prosperity only. time in the history of the United States ha been such progress in the moral and philan ic field. Religious and charitable instite schools, seminaries and colleges, have been ed and endowed far more generously than previous time in our history. Greater and varied relief has been extended to human ing and the entire progress of the cour wealth has been accompanied and dignified broadening and elevation of our national ce ter as a people.

Our opponents find fault that our revenu tem produces a surplus. But they shoul forget that the law has given a specific pur which all of the surplus is profitably and h

A frequent accusation by our opponent the foreign commerce of the country has the foreign commerce of the country hadeaged under the influence of the tariff. In this way they seek to array the ing interest against the republican par common and yet radical error to concommerce of the country with its carrying an error often committed innocently times designedly—but an error that it does not distinguish between the the cargo. Foreign commerce representationality of the vessel that may carrying from obvious causes suffered many ements since 1860, but our foreign comments of the comments of the constant of the same period steadily and prodign creased—increased indeed at a rate amount which absolutely dwarf our developments of our through the sea. From 1860 to the time the foreign commerce of the Unit (divided with approximate equality by ports and imports,) reached the astoung gate of twenty-four thousand millions (324,003,000,000). The balance in this merce inclined in our favor, but it were conclused in the same field.
